I have heard of other discussion sections which had different set up for the discussion. Our section was assigned homework for every Friday, or sometimes extra homework for the end of the day (feedback material/progress) assuming we are free all day. As an architecture student I had class until 5pm every Friday, thus I couldn't benefit from the extra feedback which I thought was not fair

There were a lot of notes each lecture. I think Prof. Gonda could make them more concise. However, he was a great teacher who is very interested in the class.

Scarlett utilized section time remarkably well, kept the material interesting and reinforced what we learned in lecture. Holding us to a high standard, but offering guidance and availability.
